Conference Overview

The basic research in the core disciplines on children and youth continues to be critically important, the need for transcending conventional boundaries has become increasingly important. Moreover, in a fast changing world, the movement of children, youth and their families across social contexts (e.g., home to school) and geographical boundaries is not necessarily occurring in an orderly and predictable manner in many situations. As a result, the lived experiences of children and youth have also become highly variable and complex. Capturing these varying realities through research has become critically important in order to ascertain how to improve the well-being and life chances of children and youth not only for their own benefit but also to facilitate the development of public policies and strategies to address issues arising as a result. Enriching the scholarly and public discourse on these important issues and others will, we hope, ensure that adult populations become better informed and concerned about the issues connected with the well-being and life opportunities of children and youth in their own societies. Most importantly, the resulting increase in awareness and concern may result in leaders focusing their efforts on fostering optimal development for all.

Call for Papers

All the researchers, academicians, scholars and activists are invited to submit abstracts for the World Conference on Child and Youth 2019 (CCY 2019) which will be held on 04th– 05th July in Colombo, Sri Lanka. The theme of the conference is “Well-being and Life Chances of Children and Youth in an Interconnected World: A Life Course Approach”

The reality is that children and youth develop and flourish under widely varying social, cultural and material circumstances both within and across societies. This reality has become increasingly more complex in recent decades due to unprecedented changes that are occurring on a global scale. Increasingly people and families have shown greater mobility, moving across internal divisions (e.g., internal migration) and national borders either voluntarily or involuntarily.

The resulting interactions and exchanges across societies and levels of society that result from movement and from modern communication channels have made the life circumstances of children and youth highly variable and dynamic. Such interactions influence and are in turn influenced by the social location of children, youth and families both within their own societies and the world at large. These consequent changes undoubtedly have significant implications for parenting, socialization, growing up and life opportunities afforded to children and youth around the world.

GLOBAL YOUTH DIALOGUE ON - “HOW TO DEVELOP A YOUTH TO A GOOD CITIZEN EDUCATIONALLY, SOCIOLOGICALLY AND PROFESSIONALLY”

Global Youth Dialogue is an opportunity to bring together researchers and academics working on youth and a small cross section of youth themselves to have an informed dialogue on youth related issues in Sri Lanka and elsewhere with a view to identifying challenges youth face and opportunities available to them to achieve their shared life goals. Given the fact that the CCY 2019 is expected to feature research presentations and deliberations on both children and youth, the impact of childhood experiences on the life chances of youth and challenges they face as a result can also be taken into consideration at the Dialogue.

WORKSHOP ON - “HOW TO DEVELOP A CHILD PSYCHOLOGICALLY? (RAISING MENTALLY STRONG CHILDREN)”

Around the world, tens of thousands of children face barriers to education and livelihoods, especially those living in low-resource communities that have high unemployment and a history of conflict. The most important thing we can do for our children is to help them acquire values and skills that they can rely on throughout their lives. We all want our children to grow up to be responsible citizens and good people. We want them to learn to feel, think and act with respect for themselves and for other people. We want them to pursue their own well-being, while also being considerate of the needs and feelings of others. We want them, in short, to develop strong character.

This is an experiential workshop that is designed to give participants an understanding of building a strong child mentally.

INTERACTIVE DISCUSSION ON HOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF FROM CYBERBULLYING?

The World Conference on Child and Youth 2019 will be hosting a youth gathering during the conference under the topic of Youth and social media with respect to cyberbullying. This will bring to light the impacts of social media specifically to the youth of this generation and how to protect themselves from cyberbullying.

Cyberbullying

Cyberbullying is hurting someone using digital technologies such as emails, social media, instant messaging or websites. For example, being teased or made fun of online, having unpleasant comments, pictures or videos about you sent or posted on social media or websites, having someone use your screen name or password and pretending to be you to hurt someone else. Today cyberbullying has become one of the major issues faced by young people due to social media. There are many consequences of cyberbullying such as higher levels of depression and anxiety, emotional distress, poor physical health, and suicidal ideation.

This discussion will aim to identify vulnerable youth groups and create awareness about the issues of cyberbullying, by disseminating information and offering preventive measures to minimize cyber-violence and physical violence stemming from cyberbullying.
